Dialogue led by:

John Robertson (Secretary, Unions NSW)

Dr Stephane LeQueux (Griffith Uni)

Chair:

Ron Monaghan (General Secretary, QCU)

The needs and strategies of capital are changing rapidly in this 21st century. Workers are realising that we need to change our organisations – trade unions – to face these new methods of exploitation and control.

What are the important ways that we should be changing our unions?

Hear two very different speakers, and take part yourself in a dialogue that is essential to widen to the broadest numbers of working people over the coming years.
